Badge Bandit Captured, Is Belief!

SUSPECT IN CUSTODY AT DETROIT

Harry J. Dunlap, Attacker Of Women, Is Arrested, Officers Declare

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, July 7.—With the arrest of Harry J. Dunlap, notorious badge bandit, in Detroit, Mich., last night on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, an international search for the petting party bandit, slayer of one man in Pasadena, and attacker of women, has been brought to an end.

This noon Superintendent R. H. Wright of Glendale, who heads the sheriff's office criminal investigation department, is in conference with the district attorney, and this afternoon the grand jury will indict Dunlap for his numerous offenses.

Rewards Total $1500
Extradition will be hastened, according to the officials, who are more than pleased with capture of the "wanted" man. Approximately $1500 rewards have been offered for his apprehension. He is Edward H. Fox, chief of Detroit detectives, sent the following to Sheriff Traeger:

"We have taken in custody William J. Wilson on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He has been identified as Harry J. Dunlap, wanted by you for murder, attack and robbery, as per circular of January 1, 1924. He refuses to waive extradition. Wire immediately information for a fugitive warrant and when you will send for him."

Operates On Highway
It is supposed that the first indictment to be voted by the grand jury will be that of murder, the slaying of William Jacobson in Altadena being attributed to him on the night of January 1, 1924. He operated extensively on country roads, robbing couples who stopped along the highway, as well as in the outlying sections of Los Angeles.

Dunlap flashed a badge in practically all of his robberies, and used this method to force women to accompany him to some secluded spot where he attacked them, it is charged in the numerous reports on file. He avoided numerous traps laid for him, and at one time held the officers at bay in a canyon back of Hollywood when they were close on his heels.

It is said that Dunlap comes from a good family at Bakersfield, starting on his career of crime for money with which to purchase narcotics.

Plan Highway Patrol To Guard Motorists

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Sheriff Traeger today called a conference of his motor and criminal chiefs to consider organizing a road patrol to make the highways safe for motorists, the action resulting from numerous holdups and attacks on women in Los Angeles county during the last ten months.

File Protest Against Glendale Sand Bunker

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—The public welfare committee of the City Council is considering the petition of residents of the Boulevard Manor tract against the sand bunker maintained near the Los Angeles river between Glendale and Los Feliz boulevards.

Bob Legendre, America's hope in the Olympic pentathlon, established a new world's record for the broad jump while competing in the event for pentathlon credits today, with a wonderful carry of 25 feet, 6 inches.

Sleep Back at Post As President's Aide

WASHINGTON, July 7.—C. Bascom Slemph, who has been in Cincinnati for the past three weeks, returned to the White House today to resume his duties as secretary to President Coolidge. Slemph's absence has had a quieting effect on the row that broke out during and since the Cleveland convention.

Bay City Crowded to Welcome British Tars

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—As the doughty British lion sped toward San Francisco today for a four-day visit, monster arrangements for the carnival welcome which will greet the visiting fleet were completed, with thousands of visitors from all parts of California packing hotels and taxing the far-famed hospitality of "the city that knows how."

Long before the British fleet, led by the superdreadnaught Hood, mightiest warship afloat, was ever near the Golden Gate, both banks of the harbor were thickly dotted with dense masses of humanity, all anxious for a first glimpse of the armada.

YANKS HANG UP 3 NEW RECORDS

Stars and Stripes Flung to Breeze When Americans Cut Old Figures

BULLETIN
COLOMBES STADIUM, France, July 7.—The United States led in the point scoring of the track and field games of the Olympics when today's events had been completed, with 55. Finland was second with 47; Great Britain and Sweden 14 each; France and Hungary 7 1/2 each and New Zealand 4.

COLOMBES STADIUM, France, July 7.—Two world's and one Olympic record fell today before the prowess of American athletes as the United States moved into first place in the race for points in the track and field games championship of the 1924 Olympiad.

The Stars and Stripes were unfurled twice on the official flagstaff of the stadium and the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" as members of the United States team came home first in the 400-metre hurdle race and the high jump. John H. Hallahan, Boston sports writer and official cheerleader for America, was kept busy bringing out lusty cheers for the members of the United States team.

Set World's Records
George Taylor, Grinnell college, brought the crowds up early in the day when he walked home in the 400-metre hurdles in the world's record time of 52 3-5 seconds. He was 10 yards in front of his field and they raised the Stars and Stripes for the first time. The other world's record was made by Bob Legendre of Newark, who leaped 25 feet 6 inches while competing in this event as an American starter in the pentathlon. His feat was all the more remarkable, as he had never bettered 24 feet before in all his jumping experience.

H. M. Osborne, Illinois A. C., broke the high jump record in winning the event. He got himself over the bar at a height of six feet six inches, those in the American section roaring their delight as he wiggled over the white marker on his last try and brought 10 more points into Uncle Sam's fold.

Briton Wins Dash
The members of the United States team did more than was expected of them today, but it remained for Harold Abrahams, Cambridge university sprinter, and the fleetest of foot in Great Britain, to bring down the house in the most spectacular event of the day's program—the final heat in the 100 metre dash, when he breezed home ahead of the class of the world in 10 3-5 seconds, thus equalling for the third time in two days the record for the event, established by Don Lippincott of Philadelphia at Stockholm in 1912.

The starter called four American sprinting aces to the mark. They were Charles Paddock of Local Representatives Visit Pasadena's Plant

Roy L. Kent, chairman of the power plant sub-committee of the Citizens' bond committee, this morning visited the Pasadena power plant as the guest of C. W. Kerner, Pasadena city manager. He was accompanied by Virgil B. Stone, city manager, and Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production of the city of Glendale.

A report will be made to the Citizens' Bond committee at the meeting 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, July 9, at the Harvard High school. Mr. Kent states, when the conclusion drawn from inspection of the Pasadena plant will be made known.

Britain's Flying Ace Starts on New Dash

Firemen Use Masks In Fighting Blaze; Four Are Injured

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Fire Captain William Brady sustained a broken leg and three other firemen were injured in fighting a blaze which shortly before noon today wiped out the plant of the Pure Carbonic Acid Gas company and "Grandma's Cookie" bakery in Oak street. An explosion preceded the blaze. The damage was estimated at $10,000. Firemen were forced to use gas masks in fighting the flames and a large amount of apparatus was called into play because of the proximity of the blaze to the upper Market street business and apartment district.

PRESIDENT'S SON CLOSER TO DEATH

New Complication Arises to Make Fight to Save Boy More Difficult

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Calvin Coolidge, Jr., clung tenaciously to life this afternoon while surgeons and physicians gathered at his bedside at Walter Reid hospital, alternately hoping and despairing of conquering the blood-poisoning that is slowly sapping his strength and bringing him closer to death.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge continued the vigil at the hospital, praying that the miracle which has kept the boy alive until today may ultimately result in his recovery.

At 1:30 p. m. it was announced at the hospital that the fight had been made more difficult by the accumulation of gas in the boy's stomach. This will make it impossible for any more nourishment to be given him through the usual channels.

Call Another Specialist
The White House followed up this announcement with an informal statement explaining the change in the boy's condition and declaring that the situation had become grave.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge returned to the executive mansion at 1 p. m. for luncheon. Because of this grave condition of the stomach, William Gerry Morgan, a noted stomach specialist, was called into consultation at 1:30 p. m.

"It is a miracle, and nothing else, that the boy is still living," said Secretary Clark at 10:15 a. m. "Nothing like it has ever been known to medical science."

Spend Night at Bedside
The president and Mrs. Coolidge were at the boy's bedside throughout the night.

They have been constantly at the hospital since their son was taken Saturday evening from the White House, and have been without sleep through all the ordeal. Shortly after 7 o'clock, when physicians assured them that there would be no sudden change in the boy's condition, they motored to the White House for breakfast.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge spent only one hour at the executive mansion, returning at once to the hospital.

The president was accompanied also by his secretary, Edward W. Clark, who carried a number of government papers which Mr. Coolidge planned to work on during the day.

A blood transfusion was performed through the night, and

Fire In Steamer Out; Cargo Badly Damaged

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Fire in No. 2 hold of the freighter Manchester Civilian, which put into Omatu, Japan, Saturday with her cargo ablaze, has been put out, a dispatch to the marine department of the chamber of commerce stated. It added, however, that the ship's cargo had been badly damaged by the fire, although no estimate was given as to the probable loss.

FOREST FIRE THREATENS VILLAGES

Prompt Work of Volunteers Save Sierraville and Sattley From Flames

BULLETIN
REDDING, July 7.—The Wyndham Ferry hotel and summer resort in the Pit river was destroyed today by the forest fire which has been raging in that vicinity for two days. All of the guests left safely before the fire gained any headway.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Late reports received today by the United States forester's office here declared the town of Sattley, near Yuba Pass in the Tahoe national forest, reported to have been wiped out by the blaze, was still intact, with but a few scattered buildings on the outskirts of the village in ashes.

The town of Sierraville in the Sierra valley, also menaced by the flames, is believed to have been saved by prompt work on the part of residents, aided by scores working under the district forester's office.

Calpine, near Sattley, a small village, which for a time was endangered, was reported today to be practically out of danger.

National Forest Hit

With more than 4000 acres a desolate waste, where once a dense forest stood, and the blaze still sweeping through the Tahoe national forest with uncontrolled vigor, scores of volunteer fire-fighters in the vicinity of the conflagration were being rushed to aid in stemming the most disastrous fire that has ever menaced the reserve.

The west side of the fire is under control, fragmentary reports received at the office of Paul G. Reddington, district forester, declared. "No news is good news in this case," said Reddington, who declared that while the blaze was still probably out of control, he believed it would probably be stopped before night-fall.

Information Lacking

Similar reports were received from officials in charge of fighting the blaze in the Sequoia national forest near Kernville, and although thousands of acres have been reduced to ashes, lack of definite information is taken to indicate that progress is being made by those in charge.

British and French Premiers to Confer

PARIS, July 7.—Announcement was made today by the foreign office that Premier Ramsay MacDonald of England will come to Paris tomorrow afternoon to confer with Premier Herriot, the two premiers to meet at the Quai d'Orsay at 6 o'clock.

In addition to the big allied powers, invitations have been sent to Jugoslavia, Greece, Portugal and Roumania, in the conference of premiers.

Premier MacDonald is expected to confer with representatives of British overseas dominions before the real parley begins.

DECISION IS BALKED BY TAMMANY

Age-Old Sectional Warfare Holds Up Nomination Of Candidates

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 7.—East is east and west is west, and, apparently, never the twain shall meet, in Democratic politics. The age-old fight waged by Tammany Hall and its affiliated organizations of boss control in New Jersey, Massachusetts and Illinois came to a head in the Clark-Wilson fight of 1912, and again in the San Francisco convention of 1920, and today it is the underlying reason for the deadlock which has prevented the Democratic national convention from making a presidential nomination after two weeks of acrimonious sessions.

Bitterness, however, is of unprecedented intensity. Discourtesy to each other almost to the point of contempt, anger and wrath which has at times almost resulted in fist fights, have given the convention plenty of excitement, but little promise of harmony, even when nominations shall have been made.

Like School Boys

The alibis and excuses are numerous. We would be impartial cannot but recognize that in many respects the leaders have acted like a lot of schoolboys. The injection of the Ku Klux Klan issue has been fatal. Try as they might, the McAdoo delegates cannot erase the impression that they have been supported by the Klan. Try as they might, the Smith delegates cannot conceal the fact that they believe most of the anti-Smith sentiment is nothing more or less than an anti-Catholic dealing. It has gone to such a point that many leaders openly say the Democratic ticket will be deserted by Catholics generally before any votes will be cast for McAdoo. To this William Jennings Bryan answers that he sees no reason why a man should be nominated meaning Smith, because of his church, and he says that is how the situation is rapidly developing.

The stubbornness that has been keeping the deadlock tight and tends to make it tighter is, however, not altogether the Protestant-Catholic feeling which has been engendered here. The McAdoo delegates from western and southern states insist that they have been furnishing electoral votes to the Democratic ticket more often than have New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Illinois and Massachusetts, which are the principal states asking for Smith's nomination. Certainly Pennsylvania never goes Democratic and Illinois almost never. But to this the Smith men make reply that the reason the big states do not go Democratic is that they never have a candidate who appeals to the eastern states whereupon the McAdoo leaders retort that the east would not support even Woodrow Wilson in 1916 and that the states which contributed to the Democratic victory that year, namely, the west and south, should have the right to name the party leader here.

Show Discourtesy
As if the Klan issue and the sectional feeling were not enough, the attitude of the convention toward some of the prominent men in the party has been hardly one of courtesy. The Smith men hissed and jeered and booed William Jennings Bryan, three times the nominee of his

Socialists to Back La Follette In Race

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 7.—Endorsement of the independent political candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette, Republican of Wisconsin, was recommended formally to the Socialists' convention here today by a special committee of fifteen members to which the question had been submitted for action. Two members only of the committee submitted a dissenting report.

Adoption of the report before nightfall by a substantial majority was predicted by convention leaders.

Resolution Permits Delegates to Vote Free From Pledges

NEW YORK, July 7.—At the end of eighty-two fruitless ballots, the Democratic national convention this afternoon adopted a resolution declaring that "all delegates should be and are hereby released from all pledges and instructions whatsoever touching upon any candidacy for the nomination for president." The vote was 985 yes and 105 no.

The resolution was adopted by the convention in precisely the same form that it came from the Sunday conference of leaders. It was the same resolution that William G. McAdoo said "did not offer a solution for the unfortunate deadlock in the convention."

Literally applied, the resolution released all delegates in the convention, McAdoo's included, from any pledges or instructions, to candidates or from their state conventions, but the effect of it remained to be determined.

All the candidates other than McAdoo released their delegates this morning. The resolution was not expected to affect either the unit rule or the two-thirds nominating rule.

TEX RICKARD BANKROLL SHRINKS

Fight Promoter Loses $1000 Every Day Democrats Stay In Garden

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Much pity has been lavished upon the poor delegates of the Democratic National convention who have had to spend from $10 to $15 a day for the privilege of remaining in Manhattan and contributing to the greatest political deadlock in all history.

But their plight is as nothing compared to the predicament of one single New Yorker not in any way officially connected with the pestiferous convention. The convention cost that individual exactly $1,000 a day while it has lasted, and heaven knows it has lasted longer than anyone dreamed. Old observers were confident the assembly would go into a second week, but they could not have predicted that it would go entirely through the last half of a fortnight.

Too Charitable

The New Yorker who is being so beautifully stung is none other than Tex Rickard, the famous prize fight promoter, mentioned more or less prominently in the Daugherty investigation at Washington and under indictment for alleged infringement of the federal laws in the transportation of prize fight pictures from one state to another. On the stand in Washington, Mr. Rickard pitifully explained that he had been "bunked" in the picture deal by persons who had told him they could get Congress to put through a bill legalizing the showing of the

YOUNG COOLIDGE'S CONDITION CRITICAL

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The condition of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of President and Mrs. Coolidge, seriously ill at the Walter Reid hospital here with blood poisoning, was reported at 4 o'clock this afternoon after a consultation of attending physicians as "extremely critical." Stomach washings are being made every few minutes, it was stated, in an effort to scatter the gases which have formed and prevent the taking of much needed nourishment. The physicians are still hoping the youth and vitality of the boy will enable him to combat the poison.

DOHENEY ASKS INDICTMENTS BE QUASHED

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Edward L. Doheny, California oil magnate, and his son, E. L. Doheny, Jr., today asked the District of Columbia supreme court to quash the indictments charging them with bribing former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, and with conspiring with him to defraud the government in connection with oil leases. It was alleged that the indictments were faulty because officers of the department of justice were present in the grand jury room during the oil inquiry. The motions to quash will be argued in October.

CONFERENCE CALLED TO AGREE ON NOMINEE

James M. Cox, Candidate In 1920, Arrives to 'Give Party Assistance'

GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 7.—After taking six more ballots today, making eighty-three in all, in a futile effort to nominate a candidate for the presidency, the Democratic national convention recessed shortly before 4 o'clock today, until 8:30 o'clock tonight, when it will reconvene and endeavor to work itself out of the impasse it has landed in for a week.

The leaders meanwhile will try to get together again and promote such an arrangement as is possible.

The arrival on the scene today of James M. Cox, the 1920 leader and "titular leader" of the party, was in part responsible for the adjournment this afternoon.

Delegates Released

News of his arrival and his intention of "helping" the party out of the present mess was circulated on the floor during the last ballots and many of the leaders manifestly wanted to get away to consult the Ohioan.

The principal achievement of today's session was the adoption of a resolution stating that it was the sense of this convention that the time had now come when all delegates should be released from whatever pledges, instructions or whatnot they were operating under.

The resolution was adopted by an overwhelming vote, but it had little effect in changing any votes on the only ballot taken before adjournment.

McAdoo was pounded down steadily during the day. He started with 511 votes on the seventy-eighth ballot this morning and wound up with 418 on the eighty-third this afternoon.

Plan Conference
This loss was occasioned by the defection of Missouri, which went to Carter Glass and of Oklahoma which went to Robert L. Owen, and Mississippi which went back to Senator Ralston of Indiana.

While the final balloting was in progress this afternoon representatives of twelve states got together under the platform, including some state senators, some state chairmen and ex-cabinet ministers and arranged a conference to be held this afternoon in the rooms of Tom Taggart at the Waldorf hotel.

The states represented in this gathering were Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, North Carolina, South Carolina, Iowa and Kansas.

Their manifest purpose is to try to agree on a candidate other than Smith or McAdoo who can be assured a following sufficiently large to gain a two-thirds majority.

Thanked by Coolidge
Just before adjournment, Senator Walsh read from the platform a telegram from the White

Support Is Urged
All friends of the library are earnestly requested to vote for these bonds as the need for more room and added equipment is very great.

"The Chamber of Commerce, luncheon clubs, women's clubs, Parent-Teacher associations, improvement associations, churches and fraternal organizations are all loyally working for the success of the bonds, as are many Glendale citizens."

"We urge all friends of the library to go to the polls tomorrow. Los Angeles voted twenty to one for her school bonds. Why should Glendale not vote generously for her library bonds?"

LAST RITES FOR ADMIRAL TWINING

Brother of Glendale Realtor
Buried in Arlington
Cemetery Today

Funeral services for Rear Admiral Nathan C. Twining, who died at Nantucket, Mass., July 4, were held today at Arlington cemetery, Washington, D. C., according to advice reaching his brother, W. L. Twining, realtor, 108 West Broadway, today.

Admiral Twining was one of the heroes of the United States navy, having been awarded a special medal of merit for rescuing Spanish sailors from the water during the battle of Santiago in 1898, and he also commanded the cruiser Tacoma at Vera Cruz in 1914.

During the World war he was chief of staff to Admiral William S. Sims while the American fleet was operating in European waters and was also a member of the allied naval council at Paris.

After the war he was chief of staff to Admiral Rodman, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, but was transferred to London as naval attaché and naval staff representative.

Visited in Glendale

While he was attached to the Pacific fleet Admiral Twining was a frequent guest of his brother, W. L. Twining, and formed a wide circle of friends in Glendale.

He was awarded the American distinguished service medal, and was also decorated by the British, French and Belgian governments for his services during the World war.

Admiral Twining is survived by two brothers, W. L. Twining of Glendale, Professor H. La Verne Twining of the Polytechnic High school, Los Angeles; and by two sisters, Mrs. Alice E. Moore, 1118 North Maryland street, Glendale, and Mrs. H. H. Whitmore, Bloomington, Ill.

The deceased was born at Bos-cobel, Wis., on January 17, 1869, and was appointed to Annapolis by Robert M. La Follette, then a member of the House of Representatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Twining, who had been spending the Fourth of July at Soboba Hot Springs, returned home last night to find a telegram notifying them of Admiral Twining's death.

PLAN MERGER OF ALL POLICE WORK

Agency to Co-ordinate Duty of Different Bureaus
Will Be Sought

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—Establishment of a new state agency to co-ordinate all police duties such as are today carried on by several individual state agencies is a goal to the state in excess of $300,000 per annum, will be asked at the next session of the Legislature, according to reports.

The movement is said to be sponsored by the State Association of District Attorneys, police officers, sheriffs and other peace officers. A similar consolidation was proposed by the California Bar Association prior to the last legislature.

Various Bureaus
All detective work such as now is carried on by the state motor vehicle department, bureau of criminal investigation, department of weights and measures, fish and game commission, state department of agriculture, state board of medical examiners, board of health and others will be turned over to the proposed new department.

It is believed that this creation of a central clearing house for police work of this nature will aid vastly in locating and prosecuting criminals in addition to reducing greatly the costs incurred by separate bureaus undertaking individual investigations with their own operators.

Speeder Crowds Auto Into Ditch, Fined $50

Aaron Gilgoff of 200 North Boyle avenue, Los Angeles, this morning was fined $50 for reckless driving in the "speeders' court" of Police Judge Frank H. Lowe. According to the testimony, Gilgoff was driving south on San Fernando road, on July 3, at a speed of forty miles an hour when, in attempting to pass another car he forced a machine from the opposite direction into a ditch.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Lowe declared there has been altogether too much crowding of this nature along San Fernando road and that the police department is determined to put a stop to it.

Many other cases of speeding and traffic violations were heard this morning in Judge Lowe's court, the usual accumulation of the week being supplemented by a number of holiday offenders.

BIBLE'S KEYNOTE EDMOND'S THEME

Postscript to Epistle of Paul Holds Warning
To Those Unsaved

On Sunday morning, Dr. W. E. Edmonds, of the Glendale Presbyterian church, preached on the one word, or sentence, "Maranatha." The sermon, in part, follows.

"The postscript is often the most important part of a letter. Paul is just finishing his first letter to the Corinthians. 'The manuscript was handed to him by his secretary for his signature. 'The salutation of me, Paul, with mine own hand. If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be Anathema, Maranatha. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. My love be with you all in Christ Jesus.'"

The Bible has an object—the final cause in the plan of redemption is the new creation and the everlasting kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ.

"It is the keynote of history; it is also the keynote of Hebrew history; this word is the keynote of church history. 'Here is the keynote to the Christian life. It is the watchword of holiness, and, finally, it is the keynote of warning to the unsaved. Maranatha! It means that the day of grace is nearly closed. 'He will come in judgment. Today He says 'Come.' Soon it will be 'Depart.' He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life. He that believeth not the Son, shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.'"

Members of the club who left here Tuesday afternoon were R. E. Johnston, J. C. May, H. M. Bennett, W. C. Waring, Charles Kent, E. C. McConnell, Robert McAllister, R. W. Jessup, Charles Haynes, Charles Stewart and James Stewart. The trip was made in automobiles, the party reaching Bishop Wednesday morning, and the lakes about 2 o'clock that afternoon.

Jessup High Man
To R. W. Jessup goes the honor of catching the most fish of the trip, according to reports brought back to Glendale. J. C. May won the title of the best hiker of the crowd, while R. E. Johnston pulled down the laurels on the best fish story, it is reported. The roads were good the entire distance, the club members reported, and the camps around the lake were crowded.

Four members of the party, J. C. May, R. W. Jessup, E. C. McConnell and Charles H. E. C. McConnell and Charles H. E. C. McConnell will return to Glendale tonight or tomorrow morning.

WINS CLAIM FOR DAMAGED BONNET

Plaintiff Checked Hat at Cloak Room in Lodge;
Gets $5 Verdict

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Checking clerks in public places, where hats and other articles are left for safe-keeping, should be more careful.

At least, such is the belief following the winning in the small claims court of $5 in damages by Miss Marie Yerman, comely brunette, who claimed her new spring bonnet was damaged while attending the Tabor Slavovich Lodge.

Miss Yerman's suit was directed against Peter E. Kurnich, manager of the lodge, and during the hearing she frankly admitted the hat only cost $7.50 wholesale, but stoutly maintained it was worth three times that price. In declaring she was entitled to compensation, Judge Burnett said it was not strictly Kurnich's fault that Miss Yerman's hat was rendered into a shapeless affair and that she should have sued the lodge.

It was stated at the next meeting of the lodge directors that the young woman would be awarded $5, with which she may repair her bonnet.

SILVER HOARDED

Financial experts have long been baffled by the insatiable demand for silver that comes from India. It is assumed that the natives hoard it or convert it into jewelry. Silver literally pours into India year after year and is never sent out again in any quantity. United States shipped 36.7 million fine ounces there in 1923, and England 64 million fine ounces, in each case it being double that of the previous year's shipment.

3000-ACRE PARK SYSTEM PLANNED

Committee Meets to Outline Campaign to Secure Playground Sites

Parks and playgrounds in the San Fernando valley, totaling more than 3000 acres, are the dream and ambition of a general committee from civic bodies in various parts of the valley, which will meet July 8 to map out a campaign.

The naming of the committee took place at a banquet at Encino Country club. The Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce called the meeting, with a view of forming a permanent, high powered committee, representing all sections of the valley.

"San Fernando valley is in the same stage in its growth as Los Angeles was in 1890. This valley can get valuable recreation land now, that will be far beyond reach in a few years," said Van Griffith of the Los Angeles Playground Department, and his expression was the consensus of opinion of those at the conference.

Opportunity Here
Praising the concrete move for parks in the valley, Hugh Penney, secretary of the Regional Planning Commission, said: "You have power to lay out an adequate park system today, but in a few years you will have lost this opportunity."

The committee, which will meet July 8, includes F. C. Wood, chairman; K. E. Pease, R. L. Rudick, H. H. Crawford, C. W. Newport and B. A. Marks.

Gas Torches May Make Moonlight Bathing Possible

Plans for the opening of the Patterson park plunge several hours after dinner on two or three nights of each week have been abandoned by the park board for the present time because of the situation brought about by the shortage of power in Glendale, according to Samuel Warren, who is in charge of the plunge. The evening hours were to be considered at the last meeting of the board, but, because of the general program of light conservation being carried out over the city, no action was taken.

If relief measures are taken to insure light for the remainder of the summer, the board will allow for the opening from 7 until 9 o'clock, or other hours, as the public demand seems to make advisable, it is thought. Gas torches have been suggested in order that bathers may enjoy a moonlight bath.

Delegates Report on Endeavor Convention

The meeting held last night by the Intermediate Christian Endeavor League of the Glendale Presbyterian church was an echo meeting of the San Jose convention. Jimmie Littell was the leader, and the topic of the evening was "In His steps; how Jesus treated friends."

The four delegates to the convention, Alice Huston, Mildred Sooy, Spencer Jewell and James Littell, each gave a report of the convention. This was followed by a baritone solo, "In the Garden" by John Richard of the Harmony quartet, accompanied by Keith Brooks.

The following new members were welcomed into the society by Mildred Thompson, president: Doris Abarta, Helen Hoffeditz, Marie Byson, Meredith Brown, Florence Bishop and Sarah Yoder. Announcement was made relative to plans for the next meeting to be held after the twilight communion service.

VANDALS ABUSE PARK PRIVILEGE

Steal Shrubbery and Run Over Gardens, Reports Supt. Warren

The city park department has experienced considerable difficulty in protecting the Patterson park from the hands of vandals who do not respect the public property and do not consider the time and money that are being expended by the city in beautifying this piece of property, says Samuel Warren, superintendent of city parks. He reports that during the program put on by the Community Service organization at the park on the Fourth, the crowds overran the roadways and destroyed several hundred dollars' worth of newly-planted shrubbery and flower beds.

In making way for the races to be run, the people rushed back into the landscape gardening and tramped upon the young plants. In this way, the labor of several weeks representing a large expenditure of money was destroyed in a few moments, according to Mr. Warren. He also says that when the attention of the people was called to the property destruction that was taking place, they refused to comply with the requests of the caretakers and it was necessary to call motorcycle officers to handle the throng.

A case of vandalism at the park reported by Mr. Warren is the removal of some of the costly plants that are being developed in the sunken garden and around the winding paths. Thieves have entered the park during the night and dug up some of the beautiful arbor vital and tree boxes, undoubtedly removing them to be transplanted in private gardens. Because of these thefts it has been necessary to provide a night watchman for the park.

Mr. Warren urges that the people co-operate with the park officials in making the Patterson street property a beauty spot. He believes if the people will heed the warnings that have been posted and will co-operate with those in charge when special events are being put on, unnecessary destruction will be avoided.

The power which moves the world is hope. An anxious, doubtful, timid man can accomplish little. Fear unnerves us; hope inspires us. To cultivate and strengthen our hope we must increase our faith in goodness and in a God of love.—Anonymous.

FEDERAL DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

President Coolidge in an address before the National Educational Association in session in Washington declared himself in favor of a Federal Department of Education. Something of this sort is badly needed, for while we pride ourselves that in our land education is free and compulsory, in some sections of the United States there are no schools and the per cent of illiterates in this country is appalling.

The Abraham Lincoln school in Kentucky, built by subscription for the benefit of boys and girls in the mountain districts of that region who have had no opportunity for any schooling, cannot begin to accommodate the young people who apply for admission. A fee of $50 for board is required of those who enroll (for they must leave their homes to attend the school) and these boys and girls, and their parents as well, make pitiful sacrifices in order to raise this sum. They walk miles to reach the school and the workers and teachers daily have their hearts wrung with compassion for many have to be turned away in spite of everything.

And these boys and girls are Americans, real Americans. Many of their ancestors were among the first settlers in America, men and women who migrated from the early settlements into the mountain districts where they stopped and stagnated. And, while for generation after generation, they have lived there in poverty and ignorance, thousands upon thousands of foreign-born children have come to our country, have received a free education in our schools, had free access to our libraries and our churches and been given every opportunity to improve themselves and become useful citizens. And people who are peculiarly Americans, cut off by the mountains from contact with the world, have been left alone in their poverty and ignorance.

These backwoods districts of the south are in the United States just as much as New York city and Los Angeles and Glendale are in the United States. The stars and stripes float over them, they are in the land where free schools were among the first established institutions, where it was said that "they (the colonists) held the torch which should light the way for the weakest and the humblest child to find the truth that alone can make him free."

These people are entrenched among the mountains, inaccessible in a way, and yet we found them during the war when we needed their young men to fight. We had denied them all knowledge and contact with the world but we tore them rudely from their simple mountain homes and sent them out into a world they did not know existed to "make the world safe for democracy." And they didn't do so badly when it came to helping to defend their country, illiterate though they were, for was not Sergeant Alva York a southern mountain boy?

It is very necessary that we should educate the foreign-born children who come to this country. Our national safety depends upon making Americans of them. But, it is a shame that we should so neglect our own, that boys and girls who have a long American lineage should have to beg for the privilege of learning to read and write, when, after long generations they have learned that there is such a thing as learning. There is no justice that in some parts of the country children are so petted and pampered that they think themselves abused when they are compelled to go to school and in other parts of the same country children come begging for learning and are turned away empty handed.

It is not only unfair to the child to refuse him an education, to hamper him with illiteracy, but it is detrimental to the state, the country, as well. A large number of poverty-stricken illiterates is a liability to any nation.

Some of the states seem unable to cope with this situation. If a Federal Department of Education can bring relief, by all means let us have it.

CHILDREN IN DANGER

Drivers of automobiles notice a growing carelessness on the part of parents in allowing children to play in the street. No driver wishes to injure anyone, especially not a child, and those who are negligent where children are concerned are criminally careless. A child has not a mature mind and, although most youngsters have been warned of the consequences of getting in the way of automobiles, and understand the danger, they cannot be expected to use the same judgment and care in eluding the present-day motor phalanx as an older person exercises.

Familiarity breeds contempt and children who have crossed a street again and again, or who have played in the street without accident, are apt to grow careless. The driver should be on the lookout every instant when children are about, for a youngster may dart out right in front of an oncoming car while absorbed in play. Then again some children have the habit of running into the street and jumping up and down when they see a car approaching as if to dare it to run over them. This naturally alarms and confuses the driver.

The best way to avoid accidents is to keep the children off the streets. Most drivers exert ordinary caution when they see a group of children playing in the street, but others are careless and the risk is too great even under the most favorable of circumstances.

SUCCESS CAME TO FRANKLIN

Even when Benjamin Franklin was a struggling young printer in Philadelphia, shrewd business men predicted his ultimate success. Why? Because Franklin had a way of carrying himself, an inner conviction that showed in his every outward move.

Everything he did was done methodically, ably, to the minutest detail. His work was so much better than that of other journeymen printers that soon he was in business for himself. Franklin had the vision, without which men truly perish, in failing to achieve the destiny of which they are capable.

No one gets very far without this vision, this peculiar realization of a higher self, a feeling of innate divinity that makes men mighty and achieves for them a success beyond their individual powers.

A woman in Los Angeles got a divorce because her husband threw bread at her. Such being the case, would you call it a well-bread affair?

More famous last words: This bottle isn't labeled, but I know what's in it.

Well, anyway, some of the American Beauties are painted by God.

RIGHT UNDER THE BIG GUNS!

Rhyme

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I have never got over the feeling that inventing rhymes is a task for children. I can understand how seven-year-old children can say:

Smarty, smarty
Had a party,
And laugh in ecstasy at their rare invention, but why on earth a grown up mind wants to twist his thought around to make it sound like another thought, which has no relation whatever to it—that I cannot grasp.

And I set it down here, for the comfort of honest and younger folk, who think as I do and dare not express their opinion, that to me rhymes are fitting enough in Mother Goose, but what Tennyson or Browning had to say might have been infinitely better said if their ideas had been expressed in a straightforward sequence of words, arranged in accordance with the genius of our language.

Take a familiar quotation from Browning, in "A Grammarian's Funeral":
"That low man seeks a little thing to do,
Sees it and does it;

This high man with a great thing to pursue,
Dies ere he knows it.
That low man goes on adding one to one—
His hundred's soon hit;
This high man aiming at a million

Misses a unit.
That has the world here—should he need the next,
Let the world mind him.
This throws himself on God and unperplexed
Seeking shall find him."

The first impression a candid reader would get from this, if he did not know who wrote it, is that someone had rather a noble thought and expressed it in a remarkably amateur and silly way. The two lines "His hundred's soon hit" and "Misses a unit" are pure doggerel. To make "soon hit" and "unit" rhyme is jingle of the nursery level. Also, pardon my French, making "one to one" rhyme with "million" is a bird.

Just how a man can write that sort of stuff and "put it over," as they say in the street, is one of the unfathomable mysteries to me.

The essence of poetry is not rhyme. It is symbolism, or parallelism. That is, it consists in giving to a vague thought or impression a clear outline, a beautiful and comprehensible form. Shakespeare expresses it well:

"And as imagination bodies forth
The forms of things unknown,
The poet's pen
Turns them to shapes, and gives to airy nothing
A local habitation and a name."

Horoscope

Good and evil influences conflict today, according to astrology. While the Sun, Mercury and Neptune are all in benefic aspect, Saturn and Uranus are adverse.

It will be wise to begin this week by making the most of all opportunities that depend on persons in high places, for the way is believed to incline them toward real helpfulness.

This should be a lucky rule for all who seek employment and especially for workers in fields where the imagination plays a distinct part.

The President of the United States should benefit at this time, for he has a planetary direction assuring the greatest amount of newspaper support. All editors, publishers and writers should enjoy a brief period of great prosperity, for the stars indicate that they will be much in demand.

Messages of great importance are to come from overseas, the seers prophesy, and international issues are to be much in the public mind.

All the signs appear to forecast an upheaval in industrial circles where there will be increasing unrest and discontent.

Labor will exercise unusual influence in the national election, if the aspect of Saturn is rightly interpreted.

The death of a political leader of radical principles is prognosticated by astrologers.

This should be a lucky wedding day, although it has a sign or two that inclines toward caution.

Women are warned to combat the forces of greed, vanity and selfishness loosed in the world, for they must return to old standards of living if they would help the world to progress toward real civilization.

Much dry weather may be expected in many parts of the United States during the summer and certain crops will suffer.

Farmers should be exceedingly careful in cultivating their crops this season, for they may meet with various discouraging conditions, including that of the markets.

Persons whose birthdate it is should not speculate or make any changes in the coming year, if they desire to prosper. There is

Today's Poem

THE TRIBUTE
Boon Nature to the woman bows;
She walks in earth's whole glory clad,
And chiefest of herself shows.
All others help her and are glad;
No splendor 'neath the sky's proud dome
But serves her for familiar wear;
The far-fetched diamond finds its home
Flashing and smouldering in her hair;
For her the seas her pearls reveal;
Art and strange lands her pomp supply
With purple, chrome and cochineal,
Ochre, and lapis lazuli;
The worm its lowest wool presents;
Whatever runs, flies, dives or delves,
All doff for her their ornaments,
Which suit her better than themselves;
And all, by this their power to give,
Proving her right to take, proclaim
Her beauty's clear prerogative
To profit so by Eden's blame.
—Coventry Patmore.

Who's Who

The Prohibition party's candidate for the presidency, H. P. Faris, is sponsor for the state party that he stands a better chance of occupying the White House than members of the major parties believe.

Faris is one of the pioneers of the Prohibition party. He has attended every convention of that party since 1888, with the exception of one. The early conventions were interrupted by hecklers, inebriated "foes" and "back row humorists," according to Faris.

The nominee's home is in Clinton, Mo. He is treasurer of the Brinkerhoff-Faris Trust & Savings company there, and is connected in other business ventures. The nomination was made at the party's recent convention in Columbus, Ohio. Marie C. Brehm was named vice-presidential nominee. She is a W. C. T. U. worker in Long Beach, Cal.

GIVE 'EM ENOUGH ROPE
During a recent political campaign two deacons of the same faith religiously, but on the opposite sides of the fence politically, attended prayer meeting services.

"O Lord," intoned the Republican deacon, "I pray Thee that the Republicans may hang together."

"Amen!" ejaculated the Democrat.

"But not, O Lord," continued the Republican, "in the sense that my Democratic brother means, but in the sense of accord and concord."

"Any cord'll do, Lord; any cord'll do!" was the Democrat's closing thrust.

The Ravings Of a Grouch

I have no children, nevertheless I know how boys and girls should be disciplined and trained and I could give my neighbors some good suggestions. There is a saying that old maids and bachelors always know how to bring up children. This is meant to be a joke, but I never could see why the mere fact of being a parent should be sufficient to qualify a man or woman for parenthood. Why should not we who are on the sidelines as observers be able to see more clearly and judge more justly than the mother and father who are blinded by their love for their offspring?

At any rate, I have found that suggestions made to parents in regard to methods for rearing their children are rarely taken kindly, usually the reverse.

But that does not prevent me from being where my neighbors are making mistakes. If I were Mrs. S., my neighbor on the west, I would not gratify every whim of my 14-year-old daughter nor would I allow her to dress like a grown-up. This little girl was invited to a picnic and would not wear the pretty wash dress that her mother had hurried to make for the occasion. No, only a sport suit is appropriate for a picnic, and a white silk shirt and yellow sweater, which her parents could ill afford were purchased for her.

My neighbor J.'s 6-year-old youngster is very fastidious in the matter of food. He has been catered to so constantly that nothing satisfies him. Johnny turns up his nose and curls his lip at almost any food that is put before him and whines, "I can't eat that." His mother worries constantly and tells her friends that Johnnie can't eat this and he can't eat that and she wears herself out trying to prepare dishes that will tempt the jaded 6-year-old appetite. I wouldn't be cruel with little Johnny but I can't help thinking how much better it would be if he could be hungry just once.

If I had children I would not let them run wild. I have neighbors who do not know where their children are for a half day at a time. I would give my children time and opportunity for plenty of play and I would give them some work to do also and require it to be done at a certain time, and to be well.

I would try to keep them children until they reached the age of maturity. I think nothing is so pitiful as little girls of 6 and 7 whose training has made them sophisticated. Simple amusements, simple clothing, simple food, plenty of play time and some work; and with it all, obedience. That would be my formula for bringing up children.

But my neighbors and friends, who are parents, smile and wink at each other when I air my views on this subject.

Business In Central States Is Slowing Up

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 7.—In general, business in this section is dropping. There has been curtailment of production in several basic industries and wholesale and retail sales have been below those of the corresponding period of last year. Prices are lower but uncertainty as to their course is widespread and concessions have failed to stimulate sales.

Unseasonable weather and the delay of movement of summer merchandise. The workers released from employment in the cities have been well absorbed by farm and road work and the supply of harvest hands is adequate. Favorable crops will produce a business rebound in the fall and trade then is expected to be normal or better. Conservative production schedules have prevented large accumulations of stocks.

Detroit Banks Buying High Grade Holdings

DETROIT, Mich., July 7.—Bankers here report some borrowings by industrial interests, but the general investment situation would seem to indicate belief in a speedy revival of business activity. Banks are purchasing high grade securities freely. Industrial employment fell off less last week than for three months, the decrease amounting to only 462.

WILL LAY MAINS ALONG COLORADO

Larger Pipes Will Relieve Danger of Shortage In Water Supplies

EAGLE ROCK, June 7.—A 16-inch water main will soon be laid along Colorado boulevard from Annandale on the east limits to Glendale on the west.

This addition was promised the people of Eagle Rock prior to annexation, as one of the moves contemplated by the water department of the City of Los Angeles in order to better supply the district with water. During the time of waiting the arrival of supplies—piping and apparatus, the water shortage was relieved to some extent by additional mains along Chickasaw avenue, but during the recent warm weather, residents in the hill districts have experienced shortages of water at certain hours.

Relieve Shortage
The 16-inch main will serve to remedy the present trouble immediately, as it will double the capacity of the present mains. It is not definitely known how long a time will be required for the installation of these mains, but, following their installation, the smaller laterals will be laid on streets where at present 2-inch mains are in use.

Miss Pauline McCabe, from East St. Louis, has arrived to make an extended visit with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Sturdevant, Highland View avenue. She was here for a winter about five years ago and sees quite a change in Eagle Rock.

Miss Dorothy Kothan, a trained nurse, has returned home for the summer, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kothan of 5318 Live Oak View avenue. She has been in a large hospital in San Francisco, where she taught as well as practiced nursing.

APRICOT SEASON ON AT CANNERY

Three Hundred Employees In Burbank Plant Handle
Season's Output

BURBANK, July 7.—The Libby, McNeill & Libby cannery is now running off the apricot pack and will continue open throughout the season, reports G. W. Duernberger, superintendent, who says the season on apricots may not be over three weeks, depending upon the weather. Whatever it is, the plant will operate to the limit, he says, and this means about 300 employees.

The Libby plant has made no changes since last year, excepting to give the place a general cleaning up. It was equipped with extensive machinery and facilities for immense outputs, and nothing additional was needed at this time, it was felt by the management.

The apricots which are pronounced of a fair quality, are all from the San Fernando valley.

Trick Rider Writes
Mrs. J. S. Harris of South Alameda avenue, has received a letter from Bonnie Jean Grey, famous trick rider, who was recently here staying at the Santa Rosa, in which Miss Grey states that she has been in Providence, R. I., performing some of her thrilling stunts, and that she is in Brooklyn, N. Y. She expects to go to Dewey, Okla., and Cheyenne, Wyo., for a rodeo, and then she hopes to come back to Burbank in the fall. She wrote a very interesting account of the cities she has been visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Lloyd and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Harlow, have left for California Hot Springs, in Tulare county, where they have reserved a cabin for camping purposes. They expect to be gone about two months.

INSTALLS ENGINES

COLTON, July 7.—R. L. Deakins, superintendent of the city water department here, announced today that he had completed arrangements for the installation of a gasoline engine to replace electric motors in the pumping of water. The water level is higher this year than last, despite the drought, and there will be no shortage of supply in the Southern Pacific railroad center, he says.

LIVES UP WEDDING

BIG BEAR LAKE, July 7.—Jake Barlow, rancher in this valley, is held on $2000 bond, to stand trial for assault with deadly weapons as the result of a wedding party which savored of pioneer days. Shortly after midnight, when the wedding supper was over, Jake, as master of ceremonies, proceeded to have the meat cleaver at one of the guests. Another guest went scurrying home with five bullets at his heels. And then Hank Crane, constable of the countryside, chased Barlow over the hills until he was captured and brought before Clifford Lynn, justice of the peace, who presides in a log cabin.

RANCHERS ASK POWER

REDLANDS, July 7.—Ranchers in this vicinity have come to town with their grievances. Power to pump water is necessary. They have circulated petitions asking that the one-man Pacific Electric cars in local service be discontinued to give them the needed juice this summer. Merchants have agreed with them, but the City Council thinks otherwise. So the power war carries on.

MAY ABANDON WELLS

LOMITA, July 7.—Operators in the Lomita and Torrance oilfields have notified landowners that unless a 50 per cent reduction in royalties is granted the wells will not only be shut down, but abandoned. Already the producers are making arrangements to remove their pipe and plug the holes where pumping is unprofitable, it is reported.

BEAR FOR MASCOT

SANTA BARBARA, July 7.—This city is duty bound to present a bear to the U. S. S. Tennessee. That's what Commander Babcock, executive officer, craves as a mascot for his men. That's what he shall get, the populace who had the pleasure of the gobs over the holiday are agreed. The only pets aboard the man o' war are Wampas, the cook's cat, and six kittens.

FAVOR CITY POWER

SANTA BARBARA, July 7.—The Central Labor council of this city has gone on record favoring a municipal power plant. In a letter to the council it is set forth that boulevard lighting could be maintained at cost and Santa Barbara made the "bright spot" of the coast.

"TROUBLE CAR" ON DUTY

SANTA BARBARA, July 7.—The Auto Club of Southern California now has a "trouble car" patrolling the coast highway between here and San Luis Obispo. The driver is instructed to spend 30 minutes in trying to fix any machine which is stalled and if he fails, the car is to be towed to the nearest garage.

JOINT ELECTRIC PLANT

FULLERTON, July 7.—Efforts are being made by local officials to enter into an agreement with Anaheim for the establishment of a joint municipal power plant here. The project is possible under an enabling act passed at the last legislature to facilitate Glendale and Los Angeles' joint sewer system, it is understood.

CHARGE ABDUCTION

SANTA ANA, July 7.—Following close on the heels of June weddings the June divorce wave has swept in and one of the first complaints received allege that Monica Flores was abducted by Soulesiana Flores and coerced into marriage, the event taking place in Riverside on May 24 of this year.

Humility Toward God Is Basis of Religion

Taking as his text Peter 5:5, Rev. Philip P. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, yesterday morning declared that the basis of religious life is the spirit of humility toward God. "The interpretation of all of the life of Jesus," said Mr. Kemp, "shows that the spirit of humility to His Father's will gave Him the strength to fulfill His mission here on earth and to meet the bitter death on the cross."

"The man who is proud and arrogant, who denies the power of God, who delays the coming of God's kingdom on earth."

The hour of the early Sunday morning service at St. Mark's church has been changed from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

Tujunga Racer Lands Among Prize Winners

TUJUNGA, July 7.—The Blue Bird special race, entered by Hamilton and Home of Tujunga, finished fifth in the Independence Day 100-mile sweepstakes race at Culver City and captured $150 prize money. Clyde and Ralph Hamilton alternated at the wheel, each driving 50 miles of the distance. The Blue Bird special is a rebuilt Overland turned out in the Tujunga garage by the entrants.

Australia will buy more than $125,000,000 worth of goods from this country this year, nearly 50 per cent more than last year.

FARMERS BATTLE PLAGUE OF WORMS

Invasion Wipes Out Crops In Mid-West Before Tide
Of Fight Turns

Special Staff Service.
By OWEN L. SCOTT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CHICAGO, July 7.—The embattled farmers of Northern Illinois have won a victory over the swarming hosts of the worm that wouldn't turn and that was marching over the agricultural area of that state wiping out every green thing in its path.

The farmers dug trenches in the line of the advancing foe, filled them with poisoned mash, and then fired the trenches and wiped out the invader.

Its appetite appeased, the brown tide of destroying army worms, which for the past two weeks has been marching across Northern Illinois leaving ruined farm crops in its wake, had about run its course today. The strange spectacle of these voracious hordes have made in their onslaught is suggestive of the great locust invasions in years gone by.

Phalanx after phalanx of the army worm host attacked the northern farm countries of this state, detached corps moved in limited areas in Iowa and Indiana. Living on some farms has been made most disagreeable, trains have been all but stopped at times and farming made precarious wherever the pests have put in their appearance.

Now, however, their period of activity is almost at an end. Offensive which grows in force with their appetites and having reached their full growth have about completed the attack.

When the present movement of army worms started, entomologists at the University of Illinois, issued a warning to farmers of the seriousness of the attack to which they would be subjected. But onslaughts of army worms are not common occurrences and the farmers at first paid little heed.

Appetite Grows
The army worm started on grass and timothy. As their hunger grew, they headed for rye as a satisfying ration. Then they moved toward the young corn crop and devoured the tender corn shoots. Finally, at the height of an insatiable hunger, they attacked everything in sight.

Fast moving during this process the countless army, which blanketed the ground with its closed phalanx, set out across country in its mission of destruction. Thousands upon thousands of dollars in damage was done to the young growing crops, every vestige of which was wiped out wherever the invaders attacked. During the few days they have eaten almost everything in sight with a tinge of green to it.

As soon as the seriousness of the movement was impressed on the farmers, they set out to stem the attack but few acted in time. Those that did dug trenches about their crops, so that the attackers in their blind race for a good green meal would drop into the trench, and, unable to climb the perpendicular wall, were easily exterminated. This proved the only effective method of destruction.

Trains Are Halted

At one time when the invasion was at its height, railroads reported that their trains which were being held up by the worms which persisted in moving across the tracks, with the result that engines were able to make but little headway over slippery rails.

One large farmer early this week went on a picnic. He came home to find his whole place invaded. The worms had eaten his crops and were so thick that they covered acres and acres of ground. His year's work had been wiped out by the attack. The army worm invasion, while somewhat like the great locust attacks that were made in past years, is not so serious.

Locusts would descend on farms when crops were almost grown and devour them all. Their invasions also lasted longer than those of the army worm, whose period of destructive activity is limited to a few weeks.

But this strange army has impressed its destructiveness on sections which have come in its path and has set entomologists to work determining just how to prevent another onslaught.

Bible Study Class Furnishes Program

The Men's Bible study class furnished the program Sunday morning at the opening of the adult Sunday school at the First Methodist church. S. D. Percy, president of the class, announced the numbers. The male quartet sang a patriotic anthem; reminiscences of the Spanish-American war were given by C. H. Bott; tribute to the flag was paid by A. M. Dewey and the quartet led the congregation in singing "America."

Later during the class meeting Rev. Edward Hoskyn, class teacher, presented the theme, "The Birth and Boyhood of Jesus."

Shipments Run Ahead Of Lumber Production

SEATTLE, Wash., July 7.—New orders taken in the last week by Oregon and Washington lumber mills ran about two per cent above production. Shipments totaled $4,000,000 and production $2,000,000.

French interests are seeking a monopoly of broadcasting and the sale and licensing of receiving sets throughout the Canary Islands.

COMMENT That's All

Anybody's Guess!
Calvin Coolidge, Jr.
Privilege of Hills
Suggestion by Fowler

By Gil A. Cowan

From the day's news it appears that Al Smith has taken "the count," as sporting parlance would have it, in his contest for Democratic honors. All that remains is the selection of a dark horse, for Tammany Hall decrees William G. McAdoo shall not be honored.

Dark horses are peculiar animals, sometimes. They are numerous, in any convention, but not always satisfactory. You may have your own guess as to who the Democrats will choose.

Of far more political interest, however, is just what strength La Follette will command. Running as an independent he is bound to attract a large vote from the dissatisfied Republicans and Democrats.

And there are a plenty, if you would scan the papers from other parts of the country.

In the same hospital at Takoma Park, Maryland, where this writer battled the influenza in 1918, young Calvin Coolidge is fighting for his life, the victim of septic poisoning.

Walter Reed General hospital is considered the best the army affords. The surgical talent of Johns Hopkins at Baltimore is available and no doubt every care is being given the younger son of the president.

But, as other writers have pointed out, an ounce of prevention is worth ten pounds of cure. A little water blister, unattended, invited infection which may claim the boy's life.

And no amount of sympathy, no surgical aid, nothing other than the prayers of a nation, perhaps, can do more than has been done. It is only to be hoped that Calvin, Jr. will be spared, the same as any other youth who sometimes too bravely fails to complain of trifling ills which lead to something dangerous.

It is a privileged Glendale people have to motor out into the Green Verdugo hills and see their busy neighbors in Montrose, Verdugo City, La Canada, La Crescenta, Tujunga, Sunland, Burbank and other communities.

The writer took occasion to go tramping as John Steven McCarty says, over the week-end, and there is something invigorating about the air of hillsides one does not appreciate until he has been cooped up in a city office for a few months.

For those who venture a little farther away some evening, take a spin over the hills and through the tunnel to Newhall and Saugus and possibly motor as far as Lancaster or Santa Paula for dinner. You will find the ozone of the countryside a pleasure beyond compare.

Also you will see the works of nature, the industry of man, the trees and fruits and flowers which will call to mind of easterners the pastoral scenes of their old homes.

To often one joins the hoi polloi and goes with crowds to the more material places of amusement when God's great outdoors calls.

Only the other day a Los Angeles business man asked, "What's the matter with the world, anyway?"

To which the writer replied, "Nothing at all; it's our own grief. We refuse to see the good things in life by looking at the bad. The city dweller lives in an apartment usually, attends the movies which play the eternal triangle and breed distrust, goes to the dance hall where jealousy and passion are aroused, absorbs the sordidness featured by the metropolitan newspapers — and then wonders, 'What's the matter with the world?'"

"You're right," admitted the visitor. "I'm going to see it. I can't get a house with a great big yard and a garden out in Glendale and get to thinking your way."

H. N. Fowler, enthusiastic booster of Verdugo City, has a suggestion for Glendale that strikes home with the writer.

Therefore it is passed along for some civic organization to espouse.

"You should have large signs at Brand boulevard and Los Feliz road intersections with the Southern Pacific announcing, 'This is Glendale—Fastest Growing City in America,' he opines. 'Many wealthy people pass through your city on the observation cars of the Southern Pacific. Their attention should be called to Glendale.' Right?"

Steel Companies to Install Big Plants

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 7.—Taking advantage of the let-up in business, steel companies in this district are making extensive additions and improvements to plants and thus furnishing employment to many workers. One of the most extensive programs is that of the Central Steel Company of Massillon which will spend $10,000,000 on furnace and by-product coke ovens. Cleveland companies will spend $1,000,000 in improvements. Among those planning such work are the American Steel & Wire company, the McKinney Steel company, the Bourne Fuller company and the Perry Iron company. Eight of Cleveland's 11 furnaces now are active. Ore shipments in June totaled 7,583,926 tons, a million tons more than in May but nearly 2,000,000 under the total for June, 1923.

Give Work and Trade to Glendale People

There has been a great deal said about hiring carpenters and other craftsmen from out of town. "Give Glendale workmen a chance," has been the cry. This is fair and right. It follows, then, that if we should not employ those who come from outside points seeking work, we should not go to outside points with our trade.

"Give Glendale people our business and our work," should be our motto. "Spend our money so far as possible in Glendale." It is not so much a matter of benefiting the individual worker or the merchant, although they deserve our consideration for having helped the city by investing their money here, but it means boosting Glendale as a whole.

We are all working, or at least hoping, that Glendale will keep growing. We do not wish to be compelled to discard our slogan of "The fastest growing city in America." We want to see Glendale grow larger and greater. We make the city greater and richer when we spend our money here and we take from it and make it poorer when we go out of town to trade.

Any city will stagnate and die without business and, correlatively, the more business it has the more active it becomes and the faster it grows.

Glendale is known as a city of homes, it has attracted people who want to live and rear their families in clean and pleasant surroundings, and they are the class of people who feel a responsibility to the community. Glendale has given them what they sought in the way of living conditions and they feel under obligations to give something in return. Their gratitude takes the form of pride in the community, loyalty to it, encouragement for its institutions and patronage for its stores and workers. This sort of co-operation has helped Glendale in the past, and it must endure if Glendale is to continue to be the "fastest growing city in America."

Let us make Glendale 100% loyal and thus help to promote a Greater Glendale.

Diet And Health

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR—No. 1

Superfluous hair is a blemish that causes a great deal of unhappiness. And unhappiness does cause ill health, so it is not amiss to discuss superfluous hair in our column.

The technical name of superfluous hair is Hypertrichosis, hyper—more or above; trich—hair. Hypertrichosis is a growth of hair that is either abnormal in amount or occurs in places where the normal lanugo hairs are present. (The lanugo hairs are the tiny normal hairs of the skin.) It may be general or partial, congenital or acquired. Subjects of general Hypertrichosis are usually born covered more or less thickly with fine long hair. It is a congenital defect of unknown origin. These people are the hairy men and women of the circus. Perhaps some of you remember Jo-Jo, the "dog-faced" boy. He had congenital hypertrichosis.

The partial acquired superfluous hair is more common than the congenital variety. It may be an excessive growth in regions where hair is usually found, or in regions usually hairless. An example of the first instance is that of a famous old historical character, whose beard was over seven feet long. He certainly had to speak above a whisper, didn't he? An example of the second instance is that of a boy of 8 who had the whiskers of a man. Beards on the faces of women are also examples of this.

It is normal for many men to have excessive hair upon the chest and shoulders. It is said that this is a sign of strength. I don't know about that. It is normal for many men, as they grow older, to support a few long hairs on the tip of the nose and more than a few in the nostrils, ears and eyebrows.

Growth of a beard in woman is the form of superfluous hair which causes the most unhappiness. As women grow older, especially after the menopause (change of life), a slight mustache or a few straggling dark hairs on the other parts of the face, often appear. These do not cause so much unhappiness, because they are easily removed. When women, and especially young women, become afflicted with heavy hair on the face, the case is different. Here, indeed, cause for unhappiness, for these women, when company, and by their constant brooding over their misfortune, become melancholy and ill.

In some cases of superfluous hair, especially in young women, there is some disorder of the internal glands, either the ovaries or some of the other glands, and proper treatment, surgical or medical, is effective for this. Other cases of superfluous hair may be a racial or family trait and inheritable.

The victims of superfluous hair on the face are often prone to blame some face cream or lotion for their affliction. Jackson believes that face creams do not affect the growth of hair, but he does cite instances of luxurious growths on parts that have been poulticed for a long time, so that heat and moisture seem to be stimulating factors in causing an increase. Here is a point for baldheaded men! (Appropos of this, we have an article on Baldness, Greying Hairs and Dandruff which you may have if you like.) There are instances of transitory appearances of superfluous hair, especially during pregnancy. The hair disappears after some months.

There is only one method of removing superfluous hair that is permanent—and that is electrolysis, in the hands of an expert. The pain does not amount to much. According to Long, if the hair is fine and close together, the electric needle should not be used, because the closer together the hair, the greater the danger of scarring. In electrolysis, the electric needle is inserted into every individual pore to destroy the hair papillae; then the hair is removed by pliers. It is a tedious and expensive process, for each individual hair has to be removed in this way, and some of them have to be removed a second time.

Tomorrow I will give some depilatories that can be applied at home if you cannot have the electrolysis or other special treatments.

Jellied Bouillon: Canned bouillon is excellent to use. Open the can, turn it into a bowl and mix with it three-quarters of the canful of hot water. Now measure the mixture and turn it into the upper part of a double boiler to heat. While it heats, fill the same soup can one-fourth full of cold water and in this soften as many tablespoons of granulated gelatin as you had pints of the soup-and-water mixture. When it is soft, add it to the hot soup in the double boiler and stir till gelatin is dissolved. Now turn all into a shallow pan which has been rubbed with olive oil and stand in a cool place till congealed. Cut the jelly into small cubes with a knife, heap these cubes into a bouillon cup, and serve.

Grape Juice Whip: Mix together one and one-half cups of sugar and the juice of one lemon. Turn this mixture into one pint of unfermented grape-juice which is heating in the top of a double boiler. Add to the grape-juice two tablespoons of granulated gelatin which has been soaked for several minutes in one-half cup of cold water.

Stir till the gelatin is dissolved, then remove from range, strain, and stand in a cool place till it begins to congeal. At this point (that is, when the mixture begins to cling to the sides of its container and show promise of hardening soon) beat it with an eggbeater for seven or eight minutes, then fold into it the stiffly-whipped whites of three eggs. Beat all with the egg beater, then turn into a mould which has been rinsed out with cold water but not dried. Stand in a cool place to finish congealing.

Just before the dinner hour, sink the mould up to its rim in hot water for an instant (to make the jelly slip out of it easily) then turn the jelly onto a fancy dessert plate. Few of us can afford to top our desserts with whipped cream. But we can all afford to decorate them attractively with an egg-white, beaten stiff, sweetened, and stiffened

STATE CHEMISTS RIVAL RAINMAKER

Moisture for New Roads Is Sought by Scientists at Low Costs

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—"Rainmaker" Hatfield will be eclipsed if the plans of chemists of the California Highway commission to extract moisture from a cloudless sky prove successful.

Heretofore, newly-constructed highways have been subjected to a process known as "ponding." Under this plan the roads are flooded with water for twenty-one days to insure hardness and durability. This process is expensive and frequently requires more water than is available in some districts.

Chemists are working on the theory that the moisture attracted by qualities of calcium chloride will draw sufficient dampness from the atmosphere, when distributed over the new concrete, to render unnecessary the present costly "ponding" finale. Calcium chloride is inexpensive, more easily applied, and consequently time-saving, it was said.

Experimental work in this line will be made on new roads near Los Angeles and Sacramento. If results are favorable on concrete roads, investigation will be made to determine availability of the process on gravel highways, according to State Engineer R. M. Morton.

The economic value of the birds is expected to appeal to the persons who do not refrain from killing them because of their beauty and song.

HEADS BIG BANK AT 32

Laurence P. Smith at the age of 32 is president of a big bank in a big city. It is the Central Savings of Detroit with deposits of $27,000,000. He credits his good fortune to the high jinks indulged in by the Kansas University Glee club of which he was a member in 1912 on their way to Catalina Island. Their frolic engaged the interest of a banker who singled Smith and one other out and offered them jobs.

Chats On Beauty

DRESSING TABLE IMPLEMENTS

Is your dressing table well equipped?

Are you thoroughly tired of your present dressing table set? It's a state we often get into, this tiredness of every familiar thing about us. Generally it comes in the spring when the weather brightens up, and some of us work it off by an orgy of spring cleaning, then settle down to the old furnishings, glad they're back in place and clean.

But I've found that true with dressing table accessories. And—as they are handled and looked at perhaps often than anything else in the home—they should either be beautiful enough to be a permanent joy, or else changed occasionally so they'll have the charm of novelty at least.

I've often made dressing table sets as gifts for friends, by buying plain, cheap wooden things and enameling them in gaudy colors. Can you do that? If you put the enamel on in thin coats and rub down the first two or three with emery paper you'll have a beautiful finish. Once I took a white celluloid set I disliked, pasted black cutout silhouette pictures on and gave the whole set two coats of paper varnish (colorless). This held on the paper and the set could be cleaned.

A friend of mine in a bad moment bought a cheap blue imitation ivory set, later she redeemed it by painting it yellow, to brighten up a gray wood dressing table. Another friend possessed a very ugly silver plated set full of fancy curlicues and carvings, the plate half worn off. She gave it a couple of coats of scarlet varnish that is, paper varnish mixed with a little clear powdered color such as any art supply store will provide. This gave an effect very much like the French and Scandinavian enamel on silver which is so expensive to purchase.

Mrs. J. A. M.—Apparently the small white spots on the little girl's teeth are lime deposits; and since she is but 6 years of age these new teeth are still in their formation. It is reasonable to think that it would take a year or more for these teeth to grow strong and fully matured. Regular trips should be made to the dentist so that the new teeth can be watched and properly cared for.

The child may have a little skin trouble that is causing her hair to drop out. Eczema would cause such a condition, or a general run down state of health. I would say that the child needed a doctor to prescribe for her.

(Tomorrow—Answered Letters)

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Daily News Letter

By International News Service Correspondents

COLUMBUS, O., July 7.—Ohio may hear the first "Hell and Maria" from the lips of Charles G. Dawes when he starts stumping the country as Republican vice-presidential nominee.

A number of state Republican leaders, gathered here recently to formulate the platform with which the party will go before Ohioans, next fall, made known their intention to ask Dawes to come into his native Ohio to deliver his first address to one of the national standard bearers of the G. O. P.

The idea seems to have originated with some of Dawes' home-town friends at Marietta. "We'd like to have him come back to us for his maiden campaign speech, so we could have a big civic blowout for Charlie," said one of the delegates here from that city.

The original idea, however, appears destined to die in its infancy. "We'd rather have Dawes appear at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus," was the consensus of state party chiefs. "At any of these places," they pointed out, "he'd have far a more notable audience, and besides, Cleveland, Columbus, and Cincinnati are more easily reached from points outside the state."

A formal request to Dawes to make his first campaign speech in Ohio probably will be forwarded to him shortly by C. W. Montgomery, state Republican chairman. It then would have to be taken up with the party's national committee.

A note of sentiment lies behind Montgomery's desire to bring Dawes to Ohio first.

"Nothing," he said, "would be more appropriate than to have Dawes, who will do the major portion of the campaigning for both himself and President Coolidge, come into Warren G. Harding's state and his own native state, to make his initial address as the Republican vice-presidential candidate."

The indefinite plan calling Dawes to launch the campaign with a speech before his Chicago business associates at a luncheon is deemed poor strategy by Ohio Republican leaders. If prominent members of the G. O. P. in this state have their way, Chicago will wait to hear "Hell and Maria."

until Dawes has told it to other sections of the country.

Some here are of the opinion that Dawes' first appearance should be in Nebraska. It will be recalled that the delegation from this state placed him in nomination at the Cleveland convention, and it would be fitting, in the opinion of many, for Dawes to reciprocate by making his initial oratorical effort before a Cornhusker audience. Others adhere to the belief that Michigan should be honored by Dawes' maiden campaign speech, because the delegates from that state from the very start of the Cleveland convention, staged noisy demonstrations for him which had much to do with the delegates finally swinging to Dawes.

There is one thing on which all Republicans in Ohio are agreed—Dawes' personality, his picturesque character, his aggressiveness, his sincerity and the "Hell and Maria" term and forceful language he uses in expressing his beliefs will captivate the imagination of the people in a manner rivaling that of Theodore Roosevelt.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND MR. TWISTYTAIL
Uncle Wiggily was hopping along the path in Woodland one day when he saw Dr. Possum coming out of the pen house in which lived Mr. Twistytail, the gentleman pig, with his wife and two little pigs, named Curly and Floppy.

"Mr. Twistytail is ill," said Dr. Possum. "He has a sort of hot cross buns. In short Mr. Twistytail is grouchy, grumpy, cross, out of sorts—his liver isn't working right, and he won't smile or laugh. That, really, is all that ails him. If I could only get him to smile once, or laugh, he would be all right and need no more medicine. But he won't. No one can make him."

"Suppose I were to try?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"It would be the best thing in the world," said the doctor gentleman. "I never thought of that. Yes, Uncle Wiggily, you are a dear, good, jolly sort of a chap. Go in to see Mr. Twistytail, tell him a funny story—make him laugh. It will do him more good than all my medicine."

"I'll try," said Uncle Wiggily. "But first I must think up something funny. I'll hop to my bungalow and think. Then I'll go see Mr. Twistytail."

"Please do," begged Dr. Possum. "My goodness, but it's hot!" said the bunny as he sat in his bungalow, looking from the window and trying to think of something funny to make Mr. Twistytail laugh so he would get well. It grew hotter and hotter. Uncle Wiggily looked from the window and saw Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, going along the path, wagging their tails from side to side. No matter how hot or cold it was, Jackie and Peetie always wagged their tails. Suddenly Uncle Wiggily thought of something.

"If I could tie fans to the tails of those puppy dog boys they would keep me cool by wagging their tails," said the bunny. "They wag their tails anyhow, and they might as well be doing some good when they wag them by fanning me. I'll ask them to do it."

Jackie and Peetie were very glad to do anything for Uncle Wiggily. "Of course we'll fan you and keep you cool," they barked. "We wag our tails, no matter how hot it is, and we might as well wag fans. So a palm leaf fan was fastened to each doggie's tail with string, and when they wagged their tails the fans made a fine breeze for the bunny.

"This makes me lovely and cool," he said. "Now you walk down the path in front of me, doggie boys. I will go to Mr. Twistytail's and try to tell him a funny story so he will laugh and get over the grumps. Walk along and fan me, doggie boys!"

Jackie and Peetie walked ahead of Uncle Wiggily. They wagged their tails. The fans on their tails made a fine breeze. The rabbit gentleman was very cool. As he drew near Mr. Twistytail's house, all of a sudden he saw the pig gentleman looking from the window. And then, all of a sudden, Mr. Twistytail began to laugh.

AMERICANS START STRONG IN GAMES

U. S. Stars Piling Up Points In Various Events at Colombes Stadium

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
COLOMBES STADIUM, July 7.—The United States started well today in the Olympic games when Jackson V. Scholz of the New York Athletic club, won the first event on the program, a semi-final heat in the 100 metre dash in 10 4-5 seconds. Porrit of New Zealand finished second, with Loren Murchison, Newark Athletic club, third. These three qualified for the finals.

A number of the foremost athletes of the United States got into action today in the track and field games, and American visitors expected to see the Stars and Stripes unfurled on the official flag stand at the conclusion of the day's events.

Great running and javelin throwing by the representatives of Finland put them in front with 30 points for the finals contested Sunday. Sweden in second position with 7 points, and the United States third with 6 points. American runners and high jumpers were expected to put the United States in the lead by nightfall.

Strong Entry List
Finals were contested today in the 100-metre dash; the 400-metre hurdles and the high jump and the United States was represented in each event by strong competitors. Loren Murchison, Chester Bowman, Charles Paddock and Jackson V. Scholz started for the United States in the 100-metre dash. Charles R. Brooks, G. Coard Taylor and Ivan Riley started in the hurdle races and the high jumpers were Leroy T. Brown, H. M. Osborne and Tom Poor.

There are thirteen track and field events on the program and points are scored on the basis of ten to the winner, five for second, four for third, three for fourth, two for fifth and one for sixth. The javelin throw and 10,000-metre run were completed Sunday. Finland showed first in each one.

100-Metre Dash
The greatest interest of the day centered in the 100-metre dash, in which sensational sprinters of the United States were expected to make a mark.

M. Abrahams of Great Britain. Abrahams raced to a win in his trial heat in 10 3-5 seconds Sunday, thus equalling the Olympic record established by Donald Lippincott of the United States in 1912. Porrit of New Zealand and Coates of Canada were other sprinters who qualified in the 100-metre dash.

Great Britain threatened in the second semi-final heat of the 100-metre dash when Harold Abrahams outran Charles Paddock and Chester Bowman of the United States to win the heat in 10 3-5 seconds, thus equalling for the second time the Olympic record made in 1912 at Stockholm by Don Lippincott of Philadelphia.

The Britisher did not break well but came up with a terrific burst at the finish. Bowman led the field until the last ten yards, when Abrahams and Paddock nosed by him. Paddock was in fourth position at the half way mark and it looked as if he might run out of the heat and fail to qualify for the finals, but he made a grand finish.

Four in Final
The results of the semi-finals placed four American sprinters in the final. They are Scholz, Murchison, Paddock and Bowman. Abrahams of Great Britain and Porrit, New Zealand, are the other finalists. Scholz and Abrahams are considerably the most formidable on form shown in the trials and semi-finals.

Leaden of Finland has leaped the crossbar at a height of six feet, four inches, was considered the hardest man to beat in this event. The United States hurdlers, especially Charles S. Brooks of Iowa, looked the best in this final.

Other Events Today
Other events on today's program were trials in the 3000-metre steeplechase, semi-finals 800-metre run and the following numbers in the pentathlon: Running broad jump, 200-metre dash, discus throw and 500-metre run.

The United States fencing team defeated the Swiss on touches, the score being 23 to 20. Spain defeated Great Britain 11 to 8 and Italy defeated Holland 9 to 6. Portugal defeated Cuba 11 to 5.

Gilmore Oilers Turn Back El Segundo Nine

The Gilmore Oilers turned back the El Segundo team yesterday, 5 to 1, in the only Summer League game played. Wallace worked on the mound for the Oilers and allowed seven hits, while the winners gathered the same amount off Kiltus. Wallace fanned five and allowed two walks, while Kiltus struck out two and walked three. El Segundo's lone score came in the third inning. Gilmore scored in the first, third, fourth and fifth innings.

Danforth held Detroit to three hits and the Tigers went down to defeat before the Browns, 5 to 1.

The Braves beat Dazzy Vance in the first contest but lost to the Dodgers in the second game.

WHITE SOX BEAT MAGIC ISLE TEAM

Catalina Cubs Are Victims For Victory No. 22 In Game on Sunday

Special to The Glendale Evening News.
AVALON, Catalina Island, July 7.—The Glendale White Sox hung up the twenty-second consecutive victory here yesterday when they defeated the Catalina Cubs, 6 to 5, on the Avalon diamond. Charlie Dorman, center fielder for the winners, drove in four of the six runs made by the pale hose wearers, accounting for the victory. Elmer Reiger, former Coast league hurler, was on the mound for the White Sox. The Cubs touched him for eight hits, four of which failed to reach the outfield. Johnny Sisto, pitching for the Cubs, allowed ten hits.

One of the three hits made by Dorman during the day was a homer that surpassed all long-distance hitting records on the Avalon diamond. Another long hit, which rolled between the fielder's legs, enabled him to circle the bases, but he was credited with a double. Numerous errors, caused by a high wind, marred the game to a small extent. Accurate fielding was almost impossible on account of the wind, and each side was charged with six errors. Of the runs, the White Sox made five earned runs, while the Cubs made only two.

WILLS IS ASKING ANOTHER BATTLE

Desires to Meet Spalla, or Who Have You? Before Fighting Firpo

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Efforts are now being made to provide Harry Wills with another battle before the time comes for him to step into the ring against Luis Firpo. Paddy Mullins, who manages the big negro, says that Harry got off a lot of rust in his battle with Madden, but there is more to come off and he thinks it is up to Rickard to provide his man with a battle, especially inasmuch as Wills signed with Tex to fight two battles for him this summer.

Fred Fulton is anxious to take on Wills, just why no one knows. But Fred, while he is said to have improved, is not impressing anyone, least of all Mullins, with his ability to give the colored gentleman a good workout.

George Godfrey is ready and willing to accommodate Harry but George does not appear to be just the sort of game that will fill the bill for the firm of Mullins, Wills and Company.

Picks Out Spalla
Mullins would really like to get a shot at Spalla, since the Italian made a good showing against Tunney and moreover went 14 rounds against Firpo before he was stowed away. If Wills could put Spalla away in less than 14 rounds it would make the feat look good alongside of Firpo's showing. Yet at the same time Wills would have to turn the trick inside seven rounds to make the victory look as good as Tunney's victory over the Italian.

All around it is a hard problem to work out and only one fact is clear, this being that some time before he is called upon to meet Firpo, Harry Wills will step into an outdoor arena against some man of some sort of a reputation.

Western Rangers to Camp Near Arrowhead
Three hundred Western Rangers left Glendale at 6:30 o'clock this morning for Camp Seeley, near Lake Arrowhead, where they will spend two weeks. The camp will be under the direction of Harry C. James, founder and chief of the organization, assisted by Carl Sharnsmith, Leonard Friedman, Van Clegg, Edward Green, Alfred Alley, Paul Holland, Miss Bertha M. Abel and Mrs. John Harwood. This is the twelfth annual summer camp of the Los Angeles district.

For Southern News Service.
LOS ANGELES, July 7.—The Tigers and Solons split their Sunday double-header by even scores, Vernon taking the first, 3 to 2, and Sacramento taking the second by similar figures. Griffin, second baseman of the Vernon club, was knocked unconscious in the second encounter when hit by Bill Prough, who pitched his team to victory.

Ed Bryan, the recruit from Texarkana, won the opener for the Tigers, having the edge on Charlie Hall, the visitors. The fans were seasick with the brand of ball purveyed.

LACE FOR VEILINGS

LONDON, July 7.—Veilings of creamy lace, ranging from a mere deep flounce to a scarf effect that half envelops the body, form the chief ornament on many dance frocks. The lace tones down the sometimes too brilliant red now seen by many smart women.

Scientists In Battle To Save Boy's Life

helped greatly to enable the boy to live until dawn.

"Marvelous Vitality"
"His vitality is marvelous. I have never seen anything like it," said Major Coupal, the White House physician, who is directing the work of half a dozen surgeons and blood specialists who are fighting to save young Calvin's life.

The operation Saturday night and subsequent examinations developed the fact the only one type of germ was present in the infected part of the boy's body, thus making it easier for the physicians to concentrate on the eradication of this element. This germ is known as the staphylococci. Introduced last Monday into a tiny blister on the boy's foot, the germ swept rapidly through the body, and the object of the fight now is to cause them to gather in specific places in the body so that operations can be performed to remove them.

Convention Members Do Not
Have to Longer Follow
Their Instructions

House thanking the convention for its earlier act in passing a resolution of sympathy for the president and Mrs. Coolidge in the illness of their son. The president's response follows:

"The gracious act of the Democratic national convention in tendering to Mrs. Coolidge and myself its sympathy in the illness of our son is profoundly appreciated. I wish you would express to the convention our deepest gratitude."

No agreement reached and no agreement in sight, the Democratic national convention today resumed balloting in quest of a presidential candidate—starting in with the seventy-eighth, in which there was little change from its scores of predecessors. The only departure of the seventy-eighth ballot was a split in the Virginia delegation, which had been voting twenty-four for Carter Glass on seventy-seven ballots. On the seventy-eighth Virginia voted fourteen for Glass and ten for McAdoo, giving the McAdoo cohorts a thrill.

The McAdoo gain in this respect, however, was offset by Smith gains in Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania and scattering.

While the seventy-eighth ballot was in progress, Missouri was polling, and it was decided to leave McAdoo starting with the eightieth ballot, unless he showed something prior to that time. The sentiment was to go for Ralston or Robinson.

Seventy-eighth ballot—McAdoo, 511; Smith, 363½; Davis, 73½; Underwood, 49; Glass, 21; Ritchie, 16½; Robinson, 22½; Bryan, 3; Saulsbury, 6; Walsh, 6; James W. Gerard, 1; Woodbridge Ferris, 17; Franklin Roosevelt, 1; Ralston, 5.

Eightieth ballot—McAdoo, 454½; Smith, 367½; J. W. Davis, 73½; Underwood, 46½; Glass, 28; Ritchie, 16½; Robinson, 29½; Bryan, 4½; Owens, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Walsh, 4; Ralston, 5; Ferris, 17½; Daniels, 1; Roosevelt, 1.

Drop Scars Managers
The drop of McAdoo to far below 500 votes on the eightieth ballot alarmed the McAdoo managers. They shot William Jennings Bryan into the breach. The commander, with his palm leaf fan, became busy among wavering delegations on the floor.

While the eighty-first ballot was in progress, word spread around the floor that James M. Cox, the standard bearer in 1920, had arrived in town to help the party out of the mess it has got itself into.

The news was received with mixed emotions. Governor Cox is not in particular favor with the McAdoo crowd.

"Good news, I'm glad to hear it," was the comment of Franklin Roosevelt, manager of the Smith forces. "Governor Cox is an exceedingly able man. He will help in this situation."

Bryan was informed of Cox's arrival by the International News Service.

His lips tightened as he read the ex-governor's statements. "I must decline to comment," he said, finally.

A motion to adjourn until 7:30 o'clock tonight was made from the floor by a Kansas delegate at 2:30 o'clock and was howled down by an overwhelming majority.

Very Little Change
The eighty-first ballot showed little change, balloting being as follows:

Eighty-first ballot—McAdoo, 432; Smith 365; Davis 70½; Underwood 48; Glass 73; Ritchie 16½; Robinson 29½; Bryan 4½; Owen 21; Saulsbury 6; Walsh 7; Ferris 16; Roosevelt 1; Daniels 1; John T. Barnett 1; Ralston 4.

Eighty-second ballot—McAdoo 412½; Smith 366; Davis 71; Underwood 49; Glass 78; Ritchie

CITY MANAGER HOME FROM TRIP

Official to Make Report to Council on Edison Co.
Development Work

V. B. Stone, city manager of Glendale, who left Thursday night, accompanied by two local newspapermen, for a tour of inspection of the Southern California Edison company's development work in the high Sierras back of Fresno in order to secure personal knowledge relative to the power shortage due to lack of water, returned home this morning.

City Manager Stone secured a quantity of data regarding the company's big development project and proposes to write a report to the City Council. His findings will be published in The Glendale Evening News.

Investigation showed a record water shortage in the mountains and ranchers and growers through the San Joaquin valley are on a conservation program. Streams that have been dry for years are now running. Incidentally, all members of the party enjoyed fishing in the mountain streams and easily secured nice strings of trout. A more detailed story of the trip will appear in tomorrow's Glendale Evening News.

Moves to Suspend Rules

Governor A. W. Gilchrist of Florida was recognized after the eighty-second ballot and moved that the rules be suspended and the resolution favored by the fifteen candidates other than McAdoo be adopted as an expression of the will of this convention.

Gavin McNab of California rose "to a point of order." He declared that Walsh had already declared the unit rule was the law of the convention. It was overruled by Chairman Walsh.

"The convention is itself to decide that," said Walsh sharply. The resolution referred to by Gilchrist follows:

"Resolved, that the time has arrived when, in the opinion of this Democratic convention, all delegates should be and are hereby released from any pledges or instructions of any kind whatsoever, touching upon any candidacy for the nomination for president."

This was the resolution that the fifteen candidates agreed to and that McAdoo rejected in Sunday's conference.

Walsh called for a vote on the matter and the McAdoo people yelled "no" and the Smith favorite group yelled "aye."

"The chair is in doubt," said Walsh, "and the roll will be called."

McAdoo Forces Split
He granted a five minute recess for chairman to poll their delegations.

The McAdoo forces split badly on the adoption of the resolution. Georgia, Utah and South Carolina, three of McAdoo's strongholds, voted against it. California and other McAdoo states fell into line for it.

CONVENTION HITS RICKARD'S PURSE

Fight Promoter Loses $1000
Every Day Democrats
Stay In Garden

Carpentier-Dempsey films. And now poor Mr. Rickard has been "bunked" again. When New York was planning on bringing the Democrats here, Mr. Rickard came magnificently forward and said: "Take my Garden for the show; take it without let or hindrance; take it free gratis for nothing; take it and tear it to pieces, do with it as you will, but bring the Democracy to the tents of our city so that they may look upon our faces and our dwelling places and see that we are not all that is wicked and sinister."

Then, with a grandiloquent attitude, Mr. Rickard added: "There is but one condition I shall make: The expense must be mine."

Well, the expense has been his. It has been costing him $1000 a day to keep the garden open. He has not complained out loud, but he has taken a few friends into his confidence and let it be known that for some time past he has had a keener interest than anyone outside of the ultimate candidate in getting this deadlock over and done with. Mr. Rickard is the lessee of the Garden, but when it is closed it costs nothing to maintain.

Above all the rest of his vicissitudes Mr. Rickard contributed something like $35,000 in cash to the entertainment fund for the Democrats.

Now he has become a lifelong Republican.

There is no doubt that New York generally found the convention in its second week more of a blight than a blessing. The gathering took on the atmosphere of a visitation from an unwelcome mother-in-law. New York could not do too much for the convention at first. But the metropolis did think the guests would know enough to go home when the party was over. But the delegates have remained on and on and have seriously interfered with the big city's routine.

It was thought the convention was going to help business, but it has all but killed the theatrical attendance. Everybody has been staying home evenings, listening in on the radio. Never has there been such a persistent, long distance, continuous radio attraction. Naturally New Yorkers have been interested in the fate of their native son, Al Smith, and this has kept thousands "on the air" that would long ago have passed up the Garden performances as dull routine.

When a non-partisan committee was organized to bring the Democrats here this year it was announced that the city would invite and expect the Republicans in 1928. The prolonged Garden party in Madison Square may cause a material revision of these plans.

Will H. Hays, former chairman of the Republican national committee, and Frank A. Munsey, stalwart Republican and denouncer of all Democratic ways and means, were on the committee to bring the Democrats to the metropolis. If they have been grinning up their sleeves lately, who can blame them?

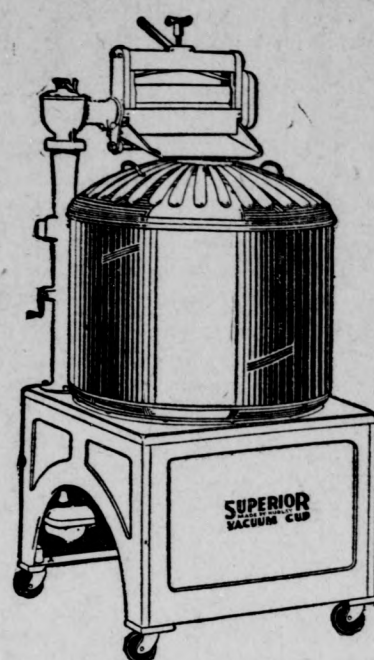

The convention is not only interfering with some lines of business here in New York, but a few of the delegates are receiving word that affairs are pretty badly demoralized at home.

"I have an office force of more than fifty people," said one of the Ohio delegates to the writer. "Since this convention has been in session and I have been in New York, the gang at the office has chipped in and bought a radio. They keep it going all day long at the office and gather around the loud speaker to fight it out. If I don't get home soon I won't have any business left."

Considering the tenseness and all the opportunities for a fight, there have been comparatively few fistfights in the Garden. In any event they have not become so common that they no longer attract attention. Let a blow be delivered and the entire convention is on its feet. The New York cops have been most tactful and tender in separating the belligerents.

The announcements made from the stand by Mrs. Izetta Jewell Brown of West Virginia have been the bright spots of the convention since Miss Anna Case ceased to lead in song. Mrs. Brown, once a noted actress, has a wonderfully trained voice, and it is nothing short of marvelous to hear her impart to the ballot the infection of emphasis and the tonal qualities of perfectly delivered stage lines. Chairman Walsh always has made a hit with the crowd every time he has led Mrs. Brown to the microphone. She has even imparted a sympathetic atmosphere to a complete roll call.

The peculiar construction of Madison Square Garden has made it possible for the galleries to interfere with the proceedings more than would be the case at any other convention hall in the country. In the Garden the galleries extend entirely around the building without an interruption. The stage has been placed almost in the center of the hall. Therefore the galleries have completely surrounded the speakers and clerks and delegates. Probably there never will be another convention laid out on such a plan. It is better to have the stage at one end or one side of the hall.

You Can Pay More But You Can't Buy A Better Washer

The Very Fact That Over 800,000 Women Have Bought
THORS Should Be Proof Enough of Its Superiority

Ask your Thor neighbor what Thor means to her—then come in, look the Thor over yourself.

Thor could never have acquired its dominant leadership if it did not solve the laundry problem in the best way possible.

The new Thor Superior is the last word in Vacuum Cup type washing machine.

It is simply and compactly constructed and easy to operate. The solid aluminum vacuum cups, shaped like two large clam shells, are propelled around by their own momentum as the motor moves them up and down sixty times a minute. These cups create a constant, uniform suction the whole time the clothes are being washed. The finest piece of lingerie can be entrusted to this vacuum cup washer. Just a free movement in suds and water that washes quickly, thoroughly and gently. The capacity of the copper tank is eight double sheets. The patented "Atalog" automatically prevents the burning out of the motor or fuses, and the famous Hurley type wringer, with the soft rolls, prevents the breaking of buttons. Equipped with an efficient gas burner for boiling the clothes.

Primarily the 800,000 women who own Thor washing machines bought them for just one reason—they have no equal in the world! No other machines are so solidly constructed, so simply and safely operated. From the very first washer built eighteen years ago down to those on which the paint is not yet dry, there has never been an attempt at cheapness. Hurley Machines have always served perfectly because they are built perfectly.
